FEAR OF A SCOLDING KEPT GIRL FROM HOME

Ten-Year-Old Girl Wanders Streets, While Father Seeks Her

Portland, Or., Nov. 3.—While every patrolman in Portland was looking for her today, and detectives hunted clues of kidnappings, Katherine Elizabeth Doyle, age 10, missing since Monday, was found curled up asleep under the steps of a synagogue.

Fear of a scolding if she returned home caused her to wander the streets for three days, she told the police. The little girl had eaten nothing except an apple and a piece of pumpkin pie since her disappearance.

"I came out of school Monday and walked and walked," she said at the police station where she was taken, weary and bedraggled. "Then it began to rain. I crawled in close beside a house and slept Monday night, but it was cold and wet."

"Tuesday I was awful hungry. I went to the library and read some books, and at night I went to a hall-louche party at the Y. W. C. A. Nobody noticed me. I went along with the other girls and got some pie and apples. They only seemed to make me hungrier. Then I slept out again."

"Next day it was raining and I was so cold and wet I went to a big department store and stayed a while in a playroom. I got more scared about going home after staying away so long."

"Last night I saw a nice, cozy place under the steps of a big house and tried to make myself comfy in there. But I'd lost my hat and my hair was wet. It was awful cold. I was afraid. When I woke up this morning there was a pain in my stomach from not having any dinner, I guess, and there was a big boy looking down at me and asking what I was doing there."

Katherine's father, Miles Doyle, employed by a lumber company, told the police he believed the child had been kidnapped after leaving St. Francis Academy on Monday afternoon. There was a joyous reunion at headquarters when he arrived. Wrapped in a blanket, her damp hair clinging to her hungry pinched face, the child was carried home in her father's arms, sound asleep.

WHY I AM FOR WILSON

By Mrs. Antoinette Funk
Progressive Leader of Chicago.

The issues between the parties were drawn where we least expected them, and they were drawn by Mr. Wilson when he forced the Eight-hour Law through Congress, one of the most far-reaching acts of any President at any time. The method, the haste, and all of the details are of minor importance, even the immediate effect of settling the strike pales in to insignificance beside the fact of the recognition of the short working day. That is the ultimate triumph, and industrial justice has gone forward a quarter of a century.

Lyons News Items

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Mrs. Bertha Woodworth of Lyons is now down at Silverton, where her daughter, Mrs. Ivy Strom has been seriously ill but is slowly recovering. The party given at the home of Master Aldred Martin in honor of his twentieth birthday was well attended by the young folks of Lyons, Fox Valley and Mehama. After playing cards and games also dancing they returned home at a late hour.

We have been having quite stormy weather at Lyons the past week, but we hope for the better soon so we can get our fall work done.

Coming Saturday night, Nov. 4, a big 4 act comedy drama, The Pierre of the Plains, by the Scio Dramatic club. Come and have a good time. Adults 35 and children 15. A large dance afterwards.

Harry Vaughn has returned to his home at Lyons with his bride, formerly Miss Eva Pruner. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn are going to make their home with his parents for a while.

Miss Blanche White, primary teacher of Lyons school, spent the week end in Portland, returning Monday morning.

Everette Bodiaker of Fox Valley is attending the Lyons high school again. Wm. Edler made a trip to Scio Wednesday taking Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald to attend the funeral services of Frank McDonald's aunt.

Mrs. W. R. Surry is not improving very fast.

The T. S. Townsend Creamery company is making quite an improvement on the creamery.

The Halloween mischief makers seemed to be asleep Halloween eve.

The hog pen at Santiam midway farm with two three hundred pound hogs in it burned down Wednesday night, Nov. 1. Mr. Hiatt reports a loss of about two hundred dollars.

Mehama News

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Mehama, Or., Nov. 3.—The people of Mehama were quite surprised to hear of the marriage of Mr. Joseph Krise. On Monday evening the people of Mehama gathered and charivariated him.

Miss Elsie Surry of Portland is visiting with her relatives in Mehama.

The Y. P. B. met at the home of William Mulkey's Friday evening.

The Y. P. B. gave a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Champ with good attendance.

The Zimmerman boys have returned home from Salem and are reported doing nicely.

The W. C. T. U. ladies will give a large contest to be held at the Mehama hall Friday evening Nov. 3.

Fruitland Notes

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Fruitland, Nov. 3.—Wm. Donaldson has sold his potatoes to a firm in Pratum for 80 cents a bushel.

Yes, the present price of wheat is good for the farmer—for the farmer who has any to sell. There are hundreds owning small tracts and some who own larger who have none to sell. I could count nearly or quite a dozen in this community who have none to sell, who have not even enough for their bread and some of these did not have a bushel. And the farmer who has wheat to sell gets $1.25 to $1.30 in the Salem market. A bushel of good wheat will make 40 pounds of flour. Forty pounds of flour at prices quoted in the Capital Journal of Monday, Oct. 30, was for valley from $1.90 to $2.10 per 50 pounds. For hard wheat from $2.25 to $2.50. This is Salem prices. This flour costs from a little over 4 cents a pound for valley flour, and 5 cents for the highest priced hard wheat flour. Now we can see where the farmer who sells his $1.30 wheat gets off. If he buys valley flour, 40 pounds (what his bushel of wheat makes) will cost him $1.60, 30 cents more than he got for his wheat. If he buys the highest priced hard wheat flour it will cost him $2.00, 70 cents more than he got for his bushel. Still if he had no wheat to sell and had to buy his flour he would be hard up against it as are we who have no wheat to sell.

The first month of school has passed and our teacher, H. C. Todd, is certainly making good. He appears to have the respect and confidence of the pupils. He has had some 30 years experience in teaching "the young idea how to shoot"—not peas nor paper wads during school hours though. I know our school is not what it ought to have been for some time in the past. It is to be hoped better days are dawning. Mr. Todd is not afraid of the school board (though he respects it) nor to use the spanker when needed. Tuesday morning I found him busy putting in wind guards or shields on some of the windows. The purpose is to deflect the ventilating current upward in the room and not on the pupils' heads and necks.

A few days more will decide who will fill the presidential chair for another four years. It is a relief to think it will soon all be over. Then the patriotic editor will fold up his fountain pen and quit abusing the opposing candidate. It is to be hoped we will hear less of Mr. Wilson's "detestable" Mexican policy and his holding Germany to "strict accountability" for sinking the Lusitania. Also no more about Justice Hughes' Danbury hats and his famous whiskers. We do hope all this campaign thunder and political clap trap will die in the dim distance of the past.

Much of the criticism of the two leading candidates is beneath contempt and unworthy of any sensible and honest man or woman. As we read the bunc of the last few days and of the three or four days yet to come we are reminded of that line of Shakespeare, "What fools we mortals be."

Mrs. Rose Ficklin whose decease occurred in Salem a few days ago, lived at one time in Fruitland, she being the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Edwards.

When in doubt which one to choose Just vote for Justice Charles E. Hughes and for state measure No. 312 vote yes, and for measure No. 314 vote no.

Livesley News

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Livesley, Nov. 2.—The ladies of the Get Together club entertained their husbands and friends with a Halloween party Tuesday night at the J. Watson home. The rooms were tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, jack o' lanterns and Chinese lanterns. The guests were met in the regular old time manner by witches who made them go through the usual stunts of stepping over the broom, etc. After the company had done ample justice to the good things provided by the ladies, music and dancing were indulged in. Melba Davenport sang in her usual charming manner. During the evening a straw vote was taken and President Wilson was returned. The following shows how the company voted: Wilson 30, Hughes 8, Benson 3, Hanly 2. Forest Edwards won the prize for the guessing contest.

Those present: Mr. and Mrs. S. Davenport, Melba, Bonnie and Lloyd Davenport, Gordon Greenstreet, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bressler, Judson and Francis Bressler, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fidler, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Query, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Meier, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Kugel, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Fidler, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. F. Edwards, Mrs. G. W. Coolidge, Mrs. H. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Holley and Virgil, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tracy of Quincy, J. W. Gerber, J. G. Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

The young people's class had an enjoyable Halloween social in the church Tuesday night.

E. Roland late of this district, is lying seriously ill in Seattle.

T. A. Livesley has his men working on a new road to the golf course. This road leads from the school house and past Mrs. G. W. Coolidge's farm.

W. M. Meier is busy erecting a new barn and granary.

N. P. Kugel has finished his new chicken house which has a capacity for 500.

Mrs. R. Mayes and children of Portland is visiting at the C. D. Query home.

Carpenter Bros. once again demonstrated that this is a prime growing district. Harvesting as they did 25 tons of dried prunes from 16 acres.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gerber are leaving this neighborhood for Portland. Mr. Gerber will be much missed as his musical ability and genial manner always made him welcome.
